CENTRAL HEATING

Euro Plumbing is a leader in designing and installing underfloor heating and central heating systems.

Underfloor heating

In New Zealand, central heating is an unregulated industry, but our installers at Euro Plumbing are qualified to European standards and regulations. We provide efficient service to existing central heating systems, trouble shooting and cost effective repairs required.

Commercial central heating

We offer end to end solutions from design of underfloor heating, to the selection of cost-effective heat source. Whether your system requires a ground source heat pump or supplementary heat from solar, we can provide a superior cost-efficient and environmentally-friendly solution to heat your home or business.

In many cases underfloor heating is not an option. We can offer exceptional European-standard heating systems such as radiators or base skirting to provide the same output in heating. All European heating systems will save thousands of dollars on running costs.
